

Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD and/or ADHD) are conditions that respond very well to the treatment we use in our office. A thorough nutritional work up can reveal what degree food allergies, hypoglycemia, heavy metal toxicity and candida are contributing to the patient's inability to focus. Unfortunately, the use of stimulant medication has become the primary treatment for ADD. Through the identification of the root causes of illness the use of these dangerous medications can be avoided or at the very least greatly reduced.

The astronomical increase in incidence of autism is quite alarming, an increasing level of chemical exposure has been strongly implicated. The nutritional-based approach used at our office is vital to treating the underlying factors of the autistic spectrum. Organizations such as the Autism Research Institute have made tremendous strides in increasing the knowledge of cutting edge holistic therapies.
